California Lutheran University (CLU) is an elite, private non-profit university founded in 1959. CLU's main 90+ hectare campus is located between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara and includes 4 satellite campuses with state-of-the-art classrooms, modern campus housing, and recreational facilities. The university consistently ranks as a top western USA university that offers masters degree programs. CLU's rigorous one-year MBA allows students to enter the workforce in less time than typical graduate programs, taught by faculty with ties to leading regional, national, and international corporations. Cal Lutheran has many student organizations including academic clubs, student government, campus media, multicultural, political, and service-oriented groups. CLU offers internships and other work experience opportunities during and after the academic programs.
